

eScience Info now offers you a professionally compiled list of current NIH grant awardees. Scientists in this list have received grants that average above $300,000.

These scientists are more likely than ever to purchase lab consumables, magazine subscriptions and much more. They are also ideal prospects for webinars and other communication.

eScience Info offers this email list for unlimited usage with complete information that includes:

- Full Name
- University Name
- Department
- City/State/Zip
- Email Address

Since this list includes the full name of all scientists, it allows you to write very personalized emails that lead to more effective marketing and increased sales.

NIH grant list includes United States-based scientists. It is highly accurate and has only been used a limited number of times. When you use this list in conjunction with your existing marketing list you are sure to see a dramatic impact on your Email readership and response rate.
